Open doors for robotics with

Cobalt Access

One of the top requested features by enterprise security and facility management, Cobalt Access expands robot mobility and improves operational ROI.

- Secure wireless communication
- Configurable with existing access control systems
- Compatible with most badge reader models
- Full service installation through Cobalt

For more information about Cobalt Access, contact

learn@cobaltrobotics.com or call (650) 781-3626

Robot Ready with Cobalt Access

Most robots can't pass through closed, access-controlled doors without the help of a human. Solving this problem one robot at a time results in high implementation costs, and limits efficient and productive operations—which is likely the reason companies are even considering robots.

COBALT

Cobalt Access lets robots cover more ground, allowing cost-effective automation for more building types. With Cobalt Access, buildings are robot ready.

Learn more at cobaltrobotics.com/access.